

The neglected tropical diseases (NTDs) have long been considered forgotten diseases of the world's forgotten people.

Worldwide attention is now helping to increase the resources devoted to the research, treatment, and elimination of the NTDs. It has never been more critical to join this effort by sharing information and coordinating efforts in the interest of faster progress.

Publishing your work in PLoS Neglected Tropical Diseases benefits both you and the NTDs community. Together, we can reduce the global burden of NTDs and turn back the tide of neglect.

PLoS Neglected Tropical Diseases

will be the first open-access journal to give a unified voice to the NTDs community. The journal will publish high-quality, peer-reviewed research on all scientific, medical, and public-health aspects of the NTDs.

Submit your work
today.

www.plosntds.org

Promoting Research • Opening Dialogue • Addressing Neglect